Dogs that need to be fostered

While there are many cute dogs that come to the rescue, the dogs that need the fostering the most are the ones who can't tolerated the kennel environment. This type of dog is shy, anxious, fearful of humans, on medication, abused and in need of extra loving care. They need one on one attention to regain their trust and overall good feelings back.

Fostering expectations

In addition to providing a safe and loving environment for you foster dog, the following exceptions are also required: (additional expectations on page 6)

The dog will always have access to water, and be fed daily.

The dog will be kept inside during inclement or cold weather and at night.

The dog will have regular exercise, either supervised or in a fenced in area.

The dog will not be tied out on a chain or tie out line.

The dog will be returned to Greenmore Farm Animal Rescue(GFAR) if for any reason the fostering host can no longer provide care.

You will contact GFAR immediately if the dog is lost, injured or sick.

It is vital to the foster process that we are able to contact you easily. Adoption applications are approved on a daily basis and we need make arrangements for your foster dog to find their forever home.

While our policy is to bring the dog you want to foster to your home, we may not have a volunteer who is able to pick the dog up from your home for an adoption appointment.
